

Have you worked as a peer researcher on a study about drug use, mental health, LGBTQ2S+ &/or racialized communities?

Participate in PEERS!

Peers Examining Experiences in Research Study (PEERS) is a community-based project that aims to understand how peer researchers experience their involvement in research with four different communities:

- communities of people who use drugs
- consumer/survivor/mad/mental health service user communities
- lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, queer, and two-spirit (LGBTQ2S+) communities
- racialized communities

We hope to learn about what research practices can best support meaningful involvement of peer researchers, within and across these four communities.

Have you worked on a research project for which your lived experience with one or more of these communities was a requirement for the job?

Were you paid or compensated for this work?

If so, then you may be eligible to participate!

Participating in PEERS will involve taking part in a one hour interview. Compensation of $30 and return transit fare will be provided.

For more information, please contact us:
peers.dlsph@utoronto.ca or 647-857-9780
All inquiries are confidential.

Have you worked as a peer researcher on a study about mental health?

Participate in PEERS!

Peers Examining Experiences in Research Study (PEERS) is a community-based project that aims to understand how peer researchers experience their involvement in research with four different communities:

- consumer/survivor/mad/mental health service user communities
- lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, queer, and two-spirit (LGBTQ2S+) communities
- racialized communities
- communities of people who use drugs

We hope to learn about what research practices can best support meaningful involvement of peer researchers, within and across these four communities.

Have you worked on a research project for which your lived experience with the mental health system was a requirement for the job?

Were you paid or compensated for this work?

If so, then you may be eligible to participate!

Participating in PEERS will involve taking part in a one hour interview. Compensation of $30 and return transit fare will be provided.

For more information, please contact us:
peers.dlsph@utoronto.ca or 647-857-9780
All inquiries are confidential.

Have you worked as a peer researcher on a study about LGBTQ2S+ communities?

Participate in PEERS!

Peers Examining Experiences in Research Study (PEERS)

is a community-based project that aims to understand how peer researchers experience their involvement in research with four different communities:

- lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, queer, and two-spirit (LGBTQ2S+) communities
- racialized communities
- communities of people who use drugs
- consumer/survivor/mad/mental health service user communities

We hope to learn about what research practices can best support meaningful involvement of peer researchers, within and across these four communities.

Have you worked on a research project for which your lived experience as a member of the LGBTQ2S+ community was a requirement for the job?

Were you paid or compensated for this work?

If so, then you may be eligible to participate!

Participating in PEERS will involve taking part in a one hour interview. Compensation of $30 and return transit fare will be provided.

For more information, please contact us:
peers.dlsph@utoronto.ca or 647-857-9780
All inquiries are confidential.

Have you worked as a peer researcher on a study about drug use?

Participate in PEERS!

Peers Examining Experiences in Research Study (PEERS) is a community-based project that aims to understand how peer researchers experience their involvement in research with four different communities:

- communities of people who use drugs
- consumer/survivor/mad/mental health service user communities
- lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, queer, and two-spirit (LGBTQ2S+) communities
- racialized communities

We hope to learn about what research practices can best support meaningful involvement of peer researchers, within and across these four communities.

Have you worked on a research project for which your lived experience with drug use was a requirement for the job?

Were you paid or compensated for this work?

If so, then you may be eligible to participate!

Participating in PEERS will involve taking part in a one hour interview. Compensation of $30 and return transit fare will be provided.

For more information, please contact us:
peers.dlsph@utoronto.ca or 647-857-9780
All inquiries are confidential.

Have you worked as a peer researcher on a study about racialized communities?

Participate in PEERS!

Peers Examining Experiences in Research Study (PEERS) is a community-based project that aims to understand how peer researchers experience their involvement in research with four different communities:

- racialized communities
- communities of people who use drugs
- consumer/survivor/mad/mental health service user communities
- lesbian, gay, bisexual, trans, queer, and two-spirit (LGBTQ2S+) communities

We hope to learn about what research practices can best support meaningful involvement of peer researchers, within and across these four communities.

Have you worked on a research project for which your lived experience as a racialized person was a requirement for the job?

Were you paid or compensated for this work?

If so, then you may be eligible to participate!

Participating in PEERS will involve taking part in a one hour interview. Compensation of $30 and return transit fare will be provided.

For more information, please contact us:
peers.dlsph@utoronto.ca or 647-857-9780
All inquiries are confidential.